

SENATE PASSES R., F. & P. BILLS

Measure is Engrossed in Upper Branch Creating Three New Judicial Circuits.

SALE-HOLT BILL IS PASSED

At Last Steps Are Taken to Redistrict the State Into Congressional Districts.

The House held two sessions yesterday, and at the end of the second adjourned out of respect to the memory of George Washington. The Senate met at noon and adjourned at 2:30 P. M., and disposed of a great deal of business. The congressional reapportionment bill, which has been an issue, especially among the Democrats of the First and Second Districts, for many years, was passed by the Senate, and now goes to the Governor for his signature. The measure puts Newport News and several Peninsula counties into the First District, and Surry, now in the Second into the Fourth.

A bill creating three new judicial circuits was engrossed in the Senate, and the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad merger bill were passed by the body without objection. The circuits created in the bill engrossed are as follows: Rockingham, Madison and Greene, one circuit; Russell, Buchanan and Scott, another, and Rappahannock, Fauquier and Loudoun, the third.

Mr. Pettit offered in the House an amendment to the Constitution preventing the election of corporation attorneys to the Legislature, and it was referred. The bill offered by Mr. Gregory, turning the College of William and Mary over to the State, was engrossed, and that of Mr. Gill, prohibiting the holding of an election within fifty feet of a bar-room, was passed by the House.

THE SENATE.

Debate at Once Precipitated on the Lassiter Road Bill.

With the usual attendance of members present the Senate began on time, receiving a number of committee reports, new bills, and Mann law petitions. In accordance with the plan already adopted by the committee on Privileges and Elections the Senate concurred in the House amendments to the Sale-Holt road bill, and this measure, placing Norfolk and Newport News in separate congressional districts, is a law at last after many years of fighting. The appropriations bill passed by the House was received and referred to the Senate Committee on Finance and Banks.

The calendar brought up a number of important bills on engrossment. The Sims bill allowing county boards of supervisors to protect game not already guarded by the acts was ordered to its third reading, with several amendments. Judge Sims declared that the Louisiana supervisors wanted to protect the "molly cotton tails." Several measures were passed by a consideration of the Lassiter road bill, been precipitating an important debate. Mr. Lassiter explained his road scheme at length, replying to several questions from different members. He expressed much gratification at the announcement of Mr. Kezell, of Rockingham, one of the strongest opponents of the State aid plan, that the "tail end" of Rockingham "would raise no objection to the convict road force route, provided a more feasible plan could be worked out than that proposed by the Petersburg Senator.

R., F. & P. Bills.

The special order calling up the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac bills stopped the discussion, and the debate of the new road system provided will be resumed to-day, under the lead of unfinished business. Mr. Lassiter has just completed his explanation of the first bill relating particularly to the road force. Again explaining the four Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac bills, Mr. Wickham, of Hanover, secured unanimous consent to withdraw No. 369, as amended, and substitute a new bill, correcting certain verbal inaccuracies in section six of the act concerning corporations, and adding thereto a sole section making the entire proceeding touching the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac matter applicable only to roads in which the State holds an interest. Since the safeguards thrown around the merger feature, the objection to the passage of the acts has been concerned almost entirely with the liability of railroads securing a new charter as to contractual and other obligations formed under the old charter. As originally drawn, the proposed new law with reference to the surrender of charters was general, applied to all railroads, and aroused much apprehension among the senators in whose communities agreements, contractual or otherwise, had been made with the railroads. The late hour of the day, the change applicable only to the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac swept this objection away. The constitutional requirements concerning the reading and printing of the bills were dispensed with, and all four were then unanimously passed without debate.

tain judicial circuits in the State, begun on yesterday, was resumed. Mr. Machen, of Alexandria, represented the counties of Fauquier and Loudoun, in opposition to Mr. Lynn, of Loudoun, senator from those two counties. Presenting petitions from lawyers and citizens, Mr. Machen described the extraordinary conditions in Judge Nicol's circuit where the congestion of cases has resulted in the holding of court at night, on legal holidays and "occasionally" on the Sabbath day on the quiet, and declared it to be absolutely necessary that Loudoun and Fauquier should be removed from the Sixteenth Circuit. Major Lynn replied briefly, declaring that the change was not necessary and that the real source of the trouble lay in the nature of the petitions presented by Mr. Machen, was that Fauquier had a candidate for judgeship proposed.

Loudoun No Candidate.

"Haven't Loudoun any candidate?" asked Mr. Machen of the Loudoun senator.

"It has not," replied Major Lynn.

"I have been misinformed then," said Mr. Machen sitting down again.

Speaking for the committee report, Mr. Fulton, of Warren, objected to the change removing Page from Judge Harrison's circuit. So far from being overworked, Judge Harrison had declared if his salary were increased he would be willing not only to do the work he was now doing, but also, in addition, handle the county affairs of the entire county of Rockingham, which is seeking relief.

When his attention was called to the fact that the House Committee for Courts of Justice had proposed the removal of Page from Judge Harrison's circuit, Mr. Fulton declared that the chairman of this House committee was the very man who had appeared before the Senate committee and stated that Judge Harrison could with ease take over the county of Rockingham in addition to his present circuit. Mr. Chapman, of Greene; Mr. Strode, of Amherst; Mr. Shackelford, of Orange, and several other senators spoke.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

After Two Sessions the Body Honors Washington's Memory.

The House was called to order at noon by Speaker Cardwell, and prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. James Power Smith.

A large number of bills were reported from various committees, and were read a first time by journal this day. Bills, petitions and resolutions came in from all quarters of the hall, and many of the petitions related to the Mann bill. Messrs. Raw, Early, Powers, Houston, Barrett and many other members offered them and they were referred.

Mr. Mann offered a resolution for an adjournment at 2 o'clock in honor of the memory of the Father of His Country. The author made a brief speech in support of his resolution, and Mr. Curlett spoke in its favor. Mr. Gwathmey offered a substitute, providing that when the House adjourns this day, it be in honor of the memory of George Washington. There was a good deal of discussion over the proposition, Mr. Churchman growing eloquent in appealing for the Gwathmey substitute.

"Washington was a great man," he said, "and he was ever devoted to his State and to her best interests. Could he speak he would suggest that we go on with our work. It was this great man who once said, 'Strip me of the ragged and defuncted remnant of my army; take from me all that I have left; leave me be hanged; give me but the means to plant it on the mountains of West Augusta, and I will yet draw around me the men who will lift up their bleeding country and set her free.'"

The substitute offered by Mr. Gwathmey was adopted.

Would Limit Debate.
Mr. Barrett offered a resolution limiting debate on all propositions, allowing the patron of a measure for the first time, and that no other member be allowed more than five minutes. There was debate galore on the question, members favoring and opposing it in brief speeches. The resolution was passed by on motion of Mr. Puller.

The chair announced the appointment of Messrs. R. E. Byrd, N. B. Early, Jr. and Charles A. Johnston on the joint committee on the part of the House to investigate certain matters relating to the State Corporation Commission. Mr. Withers called up his road measures, and they were made a special and continuing order for 12:30 o'clock on Monday.

Mr. Gill's bill prohibiting the holding of elections within fifty feet of a bar-room was earnestly advocated by the patron and Mr. Pettit and opposed by Mr. Withers, the latter contending that it was unnecessary, as the councils now have authority to remedy the alleged evil. Mr. Barrett spoke for the bill, as did Mr. Boydell, but they both expressed regret that it had been amended so as to reduce the limit from 200 feet to fifty feet. The bill was finally passed.

After the passage of several bills, the calendar was proceeded with, and a number of bills were advanced to their engrossment.

Mr. Barrett offered an amendment to the bill of Mr. Puller, which seeks to permit the distribution of cigars by slot machines, and the amendment, which was accepted, makes the possession of a slot machine prima facie evidence of their use. Mr. Throckmorton offered an amendment forbidding the entrance of an element of chance, and to require that only one cigar should be sold for a nickel. The amendment was advocated by Mr. Throckmorton and opposed by Mr. Puller. The amendment was rejected and the bill ordered to its engrossment.

The chair at 2:30 o'clock was vacated until 4 o'clock.

Afternoon Session.
When the chair was resumed the bill making general election days holidays was ordered to its engrossment and finally passed.

A communication from the Secretary of the Commonwealth was received and filed, setting out that the enumeration required by a joint resolution has been made in the counties of Tazewell, Giles and Bland. The figures follow: Tazewell, 25,488; Giles, 11,745; Bland, 5,667; total, 42,899.

There was considerable debate over the Ould bill, to prevent the running of freight trains on the Sabbath. Mr. Ould defending the measure and some of his amendments having been opposed by Mr. Churchman. The bill was engrossed.
